

XIAO LIN WEN

VMD 105
SUMMER 2018

My name is Xiao Lin Wen. I am taking VMD105 because I wanted to try out different mediums. I have always wanted to learn how to use Adobe Photoshop and I am glad that this class taught me how including other Adobe programs such as Adobe Illustrate, Animate, and InDesign. My color scheme for this document is a warm earthy tone because my projects listed here include mainly unsaturated earth tones. The typeface on this document is called Paper Daisy.

About Me

RUNAWAY

For this raster assignment, I decided I wanted to include a living organism that wasn't myself and I choose a snail. I knew I wanted the snail to go towards a destination while carrying his/her baggage. Although I did not find the exact image of a luggage I wanted, but everything turned out okay in the end. What I like most from this assignment was that the background of the road and snail transitioned smoothly creating a natural and normal image of a snail on a road.

GIRAFFE HERO

IS NOT YOUR AVERAGE
GIRAFFE

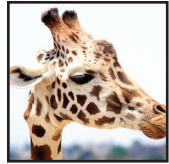

This vector assignment allowed me to create a character I have been wanting to make for a while now. This was a fun and frustrating experience. I loved the way my giraffe hero character came out. My most frustrating moment was trying to find the right expression for my character and also keeping track of the working layers.

My time based media includes an animation of my giraffe character waking up in the morning, and having his daily cabbage and coffee breakfast. Although time was limited, I was satisfied with the end results of my animation. However, things that could have been improved would be the movements and transitioning of scenes.
